

How to Jump In to a conversation

1. Listen for words you know, like places you have been or things you have in common

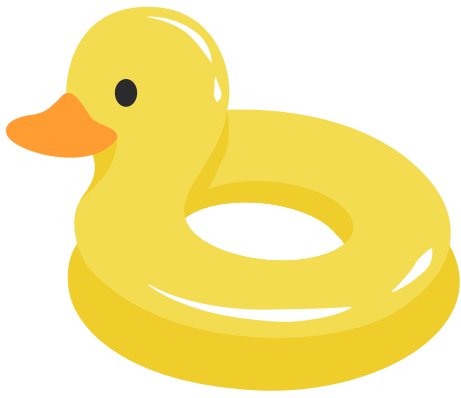

2. Use a “Jump In” phrase

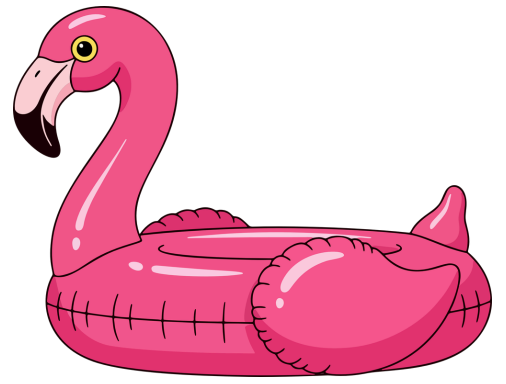

3. Share what you know about the topic

The background of the image is a close-up, top-down view of water with a vibrant blue color palette. The surface is covered in intricate, organic patterns of light and dark blue, resembling ripples or the play of light on water. The patterns are dense and interconnected, creating a sense of movement and depth. The overall effect is a textured, shimmering blue background.

I've been there too!

I know someone who lives there

I've done that before!

I don't like that!

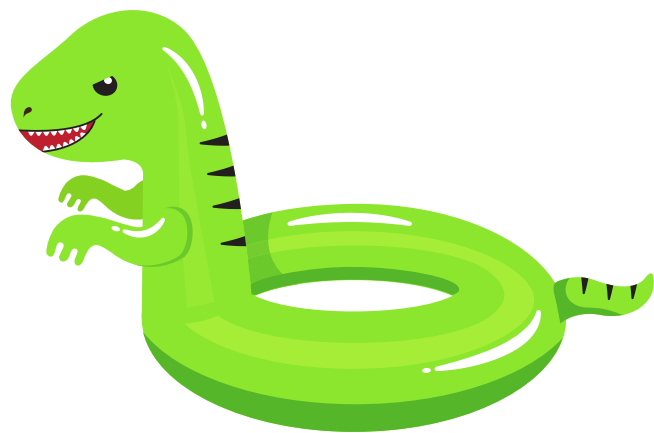

That sounds like fun!

I love going there!

Can I tell you a story?

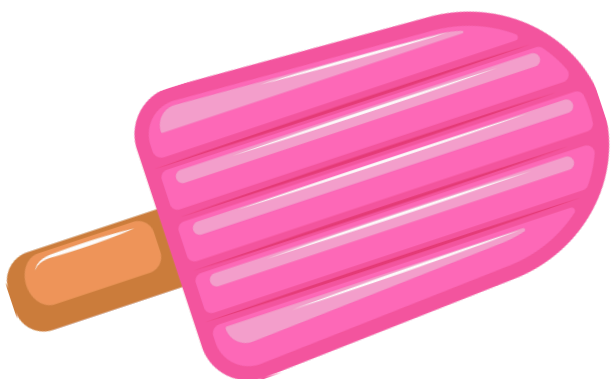

I've seen that movie

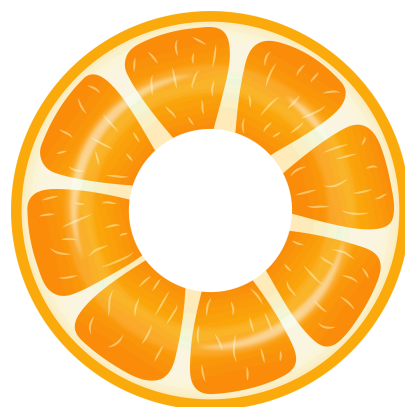

I would like to try that

Tell me more about that!

One time that happened to me!

I would not like to try that!
